

NATURE OF THINGS

Humankind has evolved over centuries to withstand new climates and tragic events only to become stronger and more resistant. Every moment, our bodies and minds adjust and improve on in order to cope with ever more challenging and changing environments.

The Nature of Things explores the idea that in fact maybe these challenges are just the usual and expected characteristics of life. It tries to re-instate balance and well-being in a time when our global world seems more complex and uncertain than ever before.

energizing

Water is one of the most important elements of life on earth. If water is detected on a planet, scientists believe that life forms similar to ours can evolve. This design reminds of waves and little bubbles which are swept onshore. The energizing and balancing power of water sets the stage for a productive and calm space.

natural renewal

When hiking through Japanese volcanic mountain ranges one can only imagine how an eruption would have felt and looked like in the past. This rug reminds of the calm surroundings of active vulcanoes covering the island in a majestic and peaceful way.

universe

This bundle of energetic waves sets the scene for a dynamic space. Reminding of the invisible forces in nature and the 'space inbetween', which is becoming the exciting friction point on this rug.

ARCTIC

cool and fresh

This artwork explores the arctic micro cosmos of the glaciers which are covering the poles of our planet. When the sun shines through the micro particles of long forgotten history, it leaves us wonder what the future will uncover.

LICHEN

natural

This composite organism will grow with almost no light and only little humidity. It is also being researched for its nutrient rich texture as an alternative to our existing food supplies. Will it replace our fruits and vegetables one day? In any case, we love the texture and strength of this organism, which has been overlooked for too long.

escape

Humans are planning life on Mars in the near future. The escape of reality and thoughts about future ways of living are still feeling a bit utopia, but may soon become reality for next generations to come.
